

ENVR-324 : Alternative Energy and Scandinavia

Study of how Scandinavian societies have been shaped by energy resources and energy production. Alternative modes of energy production will be studied and a contrast is made between the national energy policies of Iceland and Denmark compared to the United States. Special emphasis will be given to the emerging hydrogen economy in Iceland.

Credits 3

Term Offered

May Term

Session Cycle

M