

PSY-380 : Human Sexuality

Overview of the psychological, social and biological aspects of sexuality that will be of use for communicating with romantic partners, doctors and family members. Topics include: sexual anatomy and physiology, sexually transmitted diseases, methods of contraception, prenatal sexual differentiation, sex research, attraction and love, sexual orientation and sexual dysfunction, and sexual ethics.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

PSY-101 or SOC-101; junior or senior standing

Term Offered

Fall Only

Session Cycle

F