DMS-505 : Digital Writing Genres & Processes

This core course teaches theories and skills for the effective analysis, creation, curation, and publication of writing in digital and networked spaces (blogs, wikis, social media correspondence, standalone websites, etc). This course may be taken as a cross-listed course during a BC student's senior year. Off-Campus Distance Electronic Synchronous Remote Delivery.

Credits 3
Term Offered
Spring Only
Session Cycle
S