

HDFS-230 : Family Resource Management

Examines issues related to management process and its significance on the quality of life experienced by families with consideration of values, goals, standards, decision making and allocation of resources. Topics include development and allocation of resources, social environment influences, life cycle and family structure influences and consumer issues and decisions.

Credits 3

Term Offered

Spring Only

Session Cycle

S