

PHYS-101 : Foundations of Engineering 1

An introduction to the engineering profession for first-year students, with a focus on the engineering design process and problem-solving. Includes data collection, modeling/analysis, and Computer-Aided Design software. Emphasizes professional practices and expectations, including communication, teamwork, and ethics.

Credits 2

Term Offered

Fall Only

Session Cycle

F