

REL-326 : Readings in the Hebrew Scripture

History, literature and faith of the Hebrew people as revealed in the study of specific topics in Hebrew Scriptures. Designated material in the Hebrew Bible will be examined through the insights of literary analysis, archaeology, anthropology and historical criticism with special emphasis on interpretive methods. Prerequisite: ENG-110 FILA general education: philosophy or religion

Credits 3

Prerequisites

ENG 110

Term Offered

Spring Only

Session Cycle

S

Grade Scheme

BC